To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to comment on Paul Gray and Gray Video Production. I had the opportunity to work with Paul during his filming of our brown bear research project for the television show, "Alaska's Kenai Peninsula". Paul was very willing to work within our field protocol and thus did not impede collection of data or capture of animals. He was both professional and thorough during the filming process. The questions he asked regarding our project reflected his insight and interest in his subject. The episode produced by Paul on our study was informative, entertaining, and accurate. Thus, the dissemination of information to the public through Paul's work has been an asset to our ongoing brown bear project on the Kenai. I would highly recommend Paul and his work to other researchers who wish to educate the public about wildlife and natural resource topics.

Sincerely,

Dr. Grant Hilderbrand
