

IN REPLY REFER TO:

United States Department of the Interior

FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE

1011 E. Tudor Rd.

Anchorage, Alaska 99503-6199

SEP 22 1998

EA

Gray Video Productions
Paul Gray
35555 Kenai Spur Hwy. #232
Soldotna, Alaska 99669

Dear Mr. Gray:

I have reviewed the video you produced from the Kachemak Bay Shorebird Festival in Homer, Alaska in May of 1998. The video is excellent and would be a good one to reproduce through the Alaska Natural History Association (ANHA), making it available in the Visitors Centers in Homer, Kenai and perhaps other locations.

The video is very educational, giving the audience an overview of shorebird life history and pointing out their specific habitat needs. The fact that there is a special section of the video dedicated to the Shorebird Sister Schools Program, we will be able to use it for teacher workshops, train-the-trainer workshops and at our Shorebird Sister Schools Program booth at other festivals and fairs.

Let me know as soon as possible if the video will be available through ANHA as we would be interested in ordering several copies for our programs here at Fish and Wildlife Service. Thank you for developing this video, and others, that we can use to emphasize the wonderful fish and wildlife resources we have here in Alaska.

Sincerely,

Heather Johnson

Education Specialist, Alaska Region